

LUNG TRANSPLANT RECIPIENTS WHO HAVE HAD PULMONARY FIBROSIS (PF)
OR INTERSTITIAL LUNG DISEASE (ILD):
THE PFF COMMUNITY REGISTRY
IS FOR YOU

With your help, the PFF Community Registry is fostering a community with the goal of finding answers to help diagnose, treat and potentially cure all forms of PF and ILD.

Share your story to help find answers about PF

The PFF Community Registry is the first registry for patients who have had PF or ILD and experienced a lung transplant. Your story will help researchers better understand the transplantation process and the impact on long-term health.

Joining the PFF Community Registry is easy

- Visit the PFF Community Registry's easy-to-use online portal to sign up.
- Surveys can be completed at your own pace, with minimal effort and in the comfort of your own home.
- How much information you share is up to you.
- The PFF Community Registry database is highly secure, using the same technology trusted by doctor's offices, hospitals, and clinical trials worldwide.
- Receive periodic research updates via the PFF Registry newsletter.
